

Atomic Energy Regulatory Board (AERB) organised training on ‘Human Factors’ for its employees during July 26 – 27, 2018 by Centre for Continuing Education of Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Madras.

Atomic Energy Regulatory Board (AERB) organised training on ‘Human Factors’ for its employees during July 26 – 27, 2018 by Centre for Continuing Education of Indian Institute of Technology, Madras. The training program was inaugurated by Shri D. K. Shukla, Executive Director, AERB, Shri K. Srivastava, Director, Resources & Documentation Division (R&DD) and Shri K. Ramprasad, Head, Manpower Development and Information Technology Support Section (MD & ITSS), R&DD, AERB.

Prof. Rajagopalan Srinivasan, Coordinator, Department of Chemical Engineering, IIT Madras imparted training on ‘Human Factors’ with a number of animated case studies. 35 officers of AERB participated in the programme.

At the end of training, certificates were awarded to the participants.

Executive Director, AERB addressing in inauguration program of training on ‘Human Factors’ for employees of AERB

Prof. Rajagopalan Srinivasan, Coordinator, Department of Chemical Engineering, IIT Madras imparting training on 'Human Factors'

Shri D. K. Shukla, Executive Director, AERB awarding certificates to the participants after training on 'Human Factors'

Shri K. Srivasista, Director, Resources & Documentation Division (R&DD), AERB awarding certificates to the participants after training on 'Human Factors'

Prof. Rajagopalan Srinivasan, Coordinator, Department of Chemical Engineering, IIT Madras awarding certificates to the participants after training on 'Human Factors'

Group photo of the employees of AERB after training on 'Human Factors'